The Committee on Ways and Means of the House has killed a very meritorious bill. It was introduced by Representative Tawney (Minn.), and prohibited, under severe penalty, placing in cigaret and tobacco packages coupons of any kind, or prize tags or pictures. This bill passed the House in the 57th Congress, but did not reach action in the Senate. It was a righteous bill because it was stated by tobacco dealers that boys learned to smoke through buying the tobacco and cigaret for the prize tags and pictures. The pictures were usually of a vicious character, and should certainly be prohibited.

King Menelik presented medals to the members of Consul-General Skinner's party, which recently visited the Abyssinian Capital, and they are now locked up in the State Department, waiting for Congress to say that the American officers and Marines may accept the same. The medals for two of the officers are of gold. A gold star suspended from a gold crown, and attached to a ribbon of red, yellow and green stripes. The other decorations, which are the 26 Marines, look like gold coins, and are suspended from the same kind of ribbon. They bear the portrait of Menelik. It was explained that it was necessary to accept the decorations and bring them to this country, as 'King Menelik would have taken it as a deadly insult had they been refused. So here they are. Congress has been particularly unpleasant about things of this kind this Winter, and may refuse consent.
